Mission Statement

Our mission is to promote excellence in scientific inquiry and discovery in Long Island schools.

Ethics Statement

Scientific fraud and misconduct are not condoned at any level of research or competition. Such practices include plagiarism, forgery, use of electronic equipment during judging to obtain information relevant to your project, use or presentation of other researcher's work as one's own and fabrication of data. Fraudulent projects will fail to qualify for competition in affiliated fairs or the Intel ISEF.

General Eligibility for the LISEF Junior Varsity Research Fair

- Each school must have a school liaison
- Each student may enter only one project that covers research done over a maximum of 12 continuous months between January 2018 and March 14, 2019.
- All students (including all members of a team) must be affiliated with a Nassau or Suffolk County educational institution (a home schooled individual/team should follow the instructions contained in this document.)
- Student must be enrolled in Grade 9 – 12.
- Team members may be enrolled in different Nassau/Suffolk schools.
- A team may consist of 2 or 3 members.
- Each project must satisfy all of the Intel ISEF rules and LISEF rules that apply (please see Application Guidelines for LISEF and for ISEF). In lieu of submitting ISEF Forms, principals, mentors and teacher advisors will be asked to sign and submit the Verification Certificate, on page 11, that the project was reviewed by their local SRC/IRB committees, if applicable, and that the project complies with both the LISEF and ISEF guidelines. Please pay extra attention to the ISEF rules for Human Subjects, Vertebrate Animals and Potentially Hazardous Biological Agents, as these require extra supervision and/or approvals.
- Please be advised that the number of JV projects per school is a maximum of 6.
- A school that submits 1 – 4 JV projects must provide one judge; schools that enter 5-6 JV projects must supply 2 judges. These judges must be high school teachers in science, math or social science. The teachers acting as judges must register the day of the fair PRIOR to checking in their students; if you fail to bring the correct number of judges your school may not compete.
- If a school liaison certifies more than 6 projects, then the order of online registration will determine eligibility.
- Every registered student and every teacher that attends any of the three fairs must complete a Media Release form (see page 10)

Home Schooled Students Additional Requirements

- The parent/guardian of the student wishing to present research at any of LISEF Inc.'s three fairs will act as the liaison.
- Once initial page of online registration is completed with contact information, the registration process is automatically suspended until Proof of Home Schooling is received, at which time you will be notified, and your registration may be completed. It is essential that obtaining Proof of Home Schooling be completed in a timely manner to facilitate completion of registration by the close of registration deadline.
- Proof of Home Schooling: The parent/guardian acting as the liaison must request that the Nassau or Suffolk school district in their community have their Pupil Personnel Office send a copy of the letter in which the school district approved the student's Individual Home Instruction Plan (IHIP) for the current school year to LISEF; this letter and/or an attachment made by the school district must define the grade level of the course of study. A copy from the parent is not sufficient.
- The parent pays the required fees per child that is a member of a registered project; the student cannot compete if this is not received by the published deadline. The parent should use the Direct Payment Form although it is designed for schools; write 'home school' where asked for School Name, parent information everywhere else except we do need the name of the school district in which you reside.
- The home-schooled student may enter only one project that covers research done over a maximum of 12 continuous months between January 2018 and March 14, 2019.

- The home-schooled student's project must satisfy all of the Intel ISEF rules and LISEF rules that apply and complete all of the appropriate ISEF forms.
- If the student's project is done in a Registered Research Institution, the LISEF SRC/IRB will sign any of the forms that require a local SRC signature once the student has completed their research as long as proof that all of the required prior reviews were conducted at the university. If the student's project is done in any place other than a Registered Research Institution, the student must seek prior reviews from the LISEF SRC/IRB.
- Home-schooled projects will not affect the Maximum Allocation granted to any school in that student's community.
- Since most students, enrolled in a public/private school on Long Island that participates in LISEF, compete internally for the right to present at LISEF fairs, LISEF, Inc. expects that projects submitted to its fairs are of a high caliber and reserve the right to deny participation to a home-schooled project that is below LISEF, Inc.'s standards. LISEF, Inc. will review the submitted Research Plan and Abstract to determine if the project is eligible to compete. Although a project is unable to compete in one fair, it might be deemed eligible for one of the other LISEF affiliated fairs. If a project is ineligible for a fair, and a fee has been paid, that fee is refundable.
- The home-schooled student and parent that attend any of the three fairs must complete a Media Release form (see page 10).
